DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

- I. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 3, lines 1-8; in particular, drawn to a image forming system for reading and storing images containing one image reading unit, one image storing unit and an image reading controller.
- II. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 3, lines 9-22; in particular, drawn to a image forming system for reading and storing images containing two image reading units, one image storing unit and a parallel image reading controller.
- III. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 3, line 23 – page 4, line 6; in particular, drawn to a method of copying employing a plurality of image forming apparatuses by setting one as master image system and other as slave system, and making the master system form an image based on the image data acquired from slave system. And computer program (see page 5, lines 6-15) and computer product (page 6, lines 16-25) for doing the same.

- IV. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 4, lines 7-16; in particular, drawn to a method of copying employing a plurality of image forming apparatuses and setting one as master image system and other as slave system, and making the slave system form an image based on the image data received from master system. And computer program (page 5, lines 16-25) and computer product (page 7, lines 1-11) for doing the same.
  - V. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 4, line 17 – page 5, line 5; in particular, drawn to a method of copying employing a plurality of image forming apparatuses and setting one as master image and others as slave systems, and making both the master and slave systems form images based on the image data transferred and image data stored, respectively, in parallel. And computer program (page 6, lines 1-15) and computer product (page 7, line 12 – page 8, line 1) for doing the same.
  - VI. Species of the embodiment disclosed on page 8, lines 2-6; in particular, drawn to a image forming system which is connected to another image forming apparatus for reading and storing images containing a remote image reading controller an image storing unit.
2. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
